Helping children enjoy and achieve

Helping children to enjoy and achieve

While the children are at Nursery, we like to encourage their independence, natural curiosity and self-esteem giving them lots of support to achieve, by providing stimulating activities which will interest all children of different needs and abilities. We show children how to respect and appreciate each other and build positive relationships with friends and staff (especially their key person). They will also develop language skills, mathematical thinking and imagination.

At Bright Beginnings, we value each and every child and take time to listen to what they want to say and to help them have positive self-worth.

We provide all of the above by creating many opportunities throughout the day for them to enjoy and achieve, both indoors and outdoors, and by establishing quiet areas for them to “chill out”.

We monitor the child’s progress, by observing them while they are at play and plan activities to meet their needs and interests. These will be mapped into the Early Years’ Foundation Stage Framework. The staff will be happy to explain this to parents/carers and keep them informed of your child’s progress, and then you will be invited to contribute to your child’s unique story.

These observations help us to plan the child’s next activities by highlighting what the child has enjoyed, what educational value they got out of the activity and where we need to go next with future activities.
